"A Merry Christmas."

Yesterday was a "merry" day indeed in our city. A fall of snow the evening previous made good sleighing, and the streets were alive with old and young in the full enjoyment of an unlooked for luxury. A national fair would not have exhibited so great a variety of runners, boxes and equipments, albeit the style was not in all cases such as would grace Broadway or enliven the fashionable thoroughfares of the capitals of the "Old Bay" and "Empire" states. One "establishment" consisting of four horses and a sleigh of decidedly more strength than beauty, displayed the American flag, and exhibited more patriotism than the bawling demagogues of South Carolina.

The juveniles contributed their full share to the general "good time." Their style of "turnouts" equaled in variety those of the older "boys," and with spirits elated by the welcome visit of Santa Claus, their celebration had all the zest of unalloyed pleasure. Red top boots, pants tucked inside to display the carved collar, worked their way amid the crowds collected on the sidewalks or exhibited the activity of the wearer in dodging a 3:50 nag in the street; a view shawl hung from the shoulders of some "fast" Young America; pockets were loaded with the contents of stockings the good old saint had filled, and a shrill "merry Christmas" asked a remembrance from a cookie case or a candy jar.

Yes, a merry day was yesterday, notwithstanding the price of exchange, the discount on "Illinois," or the condition of the wheat market. Nobody asked "the news" no one thought of the telegraph; South Carolina was forgotten, and the "old pub. func." received less curses than he in any day for a week previous, or will for a week to come. Good bye happy day; you have gone into the calendar of the past, but may your successor prove himself like you—only a good deal more so!

A CHRISTMAS PARTY.—A family party assembled yesterday for a Christmas dinner at the residence of J. J. R. Pease in this city, which was so remarkable in the communities of the west as to be worthy of a notice. The entire party consisted of 31 persons: Mr. Pease, wife and four children; the venerable mother of Mr. Pease; the Rev. T. J. Roger, wife and five unmarried children; Miss Ruger, a sister of Rev. Mr. Roger; Hamilton Richardson, wife and child; Capt. John C. Robinson, wife and two children; Howard Ruger, wife and child; Mrs. O. N. Adams, of La Salle, Illinois, a niece of Mrs. T. J. Roger. In addition to this family circle, all of whom were connected by ties of blood or marriage, the family of L. E. Stone, consisting of himself, wife and three children, were present as invited guests and valued friends. Six distinct families, represented by Mrs. Pease and Rev. Mr. Roger, or descended from them as children, were present in this family gathering. Eight of the company were grand children, all of whom except the infant of Howard Ruger, and all his own children, had been baptised by the patriarch and clergyman present at the table of his son-in-law.

We doubt whether a family party, as large in numbers, and as well known in everything that constitutes good citizenship as this, congregated elsewhere in Wisconsin. Few parents indeed have been honored with children such as met yesterday for the blessing of Mrs. L. T. Pease and the Rev. T. J. Ruger and his estimable wife.

FESTIVAL AT LAPPIN'S HALL.—The festival of the ladies of Christ Church, at Lappin's Hall, on Christmas eve, was a very pleasant, social gathering. The supper was served in excellent style, and was quite creditable to the ladies who had it in charge. There were a goodly number present, and all seemed to enjoy themselves. These friendly meetings at the annual recurrence of Christmas festivals promote sociability and good feeling among those who participate in them. May the ladies of Christ Church hold many such festivals.

LADIES' FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the Congregational society have determined to hold a festival in Lappin's Hall, next Tuesday evening, New Year's night. A committee for the sale of tickets has been appointed, who will wait upon our citizens to purchase them. A more extended notice will be given to-morrow.

P. S. On reading proof we discover a little uncertainty about the duty of the committee. The tickets and not the committee are for sale.

JUST LIKE HIM.—"The printer" had yesterday a testimonial of the liberality of Tom Wooliseroft. For the last ten years Thomas has not failed to place upon the table of the publishers of the Gazette a substantial evidence of thanksgiving or Christmas good will.

EVALUATION.

Peacefully she sleeps,
Through wintry winds sweep o'er her;
Cold and wild the storms,
But break they not her slumber.
Mourn not, weep not, Mother,
For thy sleeping one,
Jesus watcheth o'er her;
He will wake her soon.

Brighly bloomed the flower,
Neath tenderest care and training,
Fairer grew each hour
And sweeter fragrance lending.
Mourn not, weep not, Father,
For thy lovely one,
Jesus will restore her
And bring thy darling home.

Scarcely the blossom ope'd
Its beauty to our gazing,
When closed its leaves again
As if the cold world fearing.
Mourn not, weep not, Sister,
That thou'rt called to part
With the pure, fair flower
So dear to thy heart.

Silently she sleeps,
Nor voice, nor sound, disturb her;
Peaceful be her rest,
Till He, our Saviour, calls her.
Mourn not, weep not, Brother,
For thy sister dear,
Jesus will restore her
When He shall appear. LACRA.

CHRISTMAS TREES.—A Christmas tree was the principal attraction at Christ Church, on Christmas eve. An evergreen tree had been procured from Pon du Lac, about two feet in height, which was placed in the church room, and upon which were hung presents for some seventy Sabbath school scholars, teachers, the pastor and his lady, &c. The tree was illuminated by wax tapers, and presented a beautiful appearance, especially to the expectant throng of children. The distribution of these presents was a pleasant scene, which well repaid those who were instrumental in procuring them.

A CHRISTMAS INCIDENT.—The two young men who so pleasantly and attentively discharge the duties of clerks in the bookstore of Messrs. Newell & Dearborn, Henry Van Kirk and Ira Dutton, were the recipients of a substantial token of the esteem and respect of their employers, on Christmas day, in the shape of a present of one of Spaulding's silver hunting watches, for each. This was a good thing, creditable to all parties, and is an example which might well be followed by all employers of young men in responsible business positions.

FAST DRIVING ON THE BRIDGES.—We are authorized by the mayor, to say that the ordinance against fast driving over the bridges will be rigidly enforced.

SUITS FOR DAMAGES.—In the suit of T. F. Graig, vs. C. & N. W. R. & Co., for damages resulting from the accident to the Ford du Lac excursion, which has been on trial in Chicago, the jury on Saturday afternoon having been out twenty hours, announced that they were unable to agree and were discharged. It is rumored that they "came within one" of a verdict, but "eleven contrary men" stood out.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL connected with the Baptist church will hold a festival this evening. Parents and members of the congregation are invited to attend. Services commence at half-past 6 o'clock.

O. J. DEARBORN,
Superintendent.

BOARDING WANTED.—A young man and his wife desire a boarding place in a private family residing within five minutes' walk of the post office. It is immaterial whether or not the room is furnished—can furnish it themselves. Meals will be required punctually. Apply immediately at this office.

SINGING CLASS.—Mr. Wilson's rudimental singing class will meet on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, instead of Monday of this week.

A Christmas and New Year's Gift.

A very appropriate testimonial of a Father to his Daughter, a Son to his Mother, a Brother to his Sister, or a Church to its Pastor, is one of Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines. This is a life-time gift. The price of each kind has been reduced.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE DEALERS.

JANESVILLE, DECEMBER 26, 1890.

The wheat market opened firm this morning at 70c for milling spring, and 70c for shipping, and a considerable amount changed hands at those figures until about noon, when telephone news was received from Chicago quoting a decline of 5c per bushel there, then buyers withdrew and prices soon declined to 70c for milling spring, and 69c for shipping, closing at 70c for the latter. Receipts 5000 bushels. Receipts of dressed hogs were large and prices under uniform, able reports from the lake shore markets, were a little easier; sales of 150 head at 6.20 to 6.50 for heavy, and 4.50 to 5.00 for light. Most of the hogs in to day were choice, heavy and well fattened. Receipts of other produce were light and market unchanged.

We make up goods as follows:

WHEAT—good to choice milling spring 70c; fair to good dry shipping 69c; damp and grown 68c; 64c—dull at 64c per bushel.

RYE—declined to 32c to 35c per 50 lb.

CORN—old shelled 50c to 55c per 50 lb. New in ear 18c to 20c.

BARLEY—good quality 50c to 55c per 50 lb, common 20c to 25c.

TIMOTHY SHEED—in request at 1.50 to 1.70 per 40 lb.

DRESSED HOGS—quint at 5.00 to 5.50 per 100 lb.

POULTRY—dressed turkeys, 6c; chickens, 5c; SUEP PELTS—range from 25c to 1.00 each.

AND

Our friends from the country, when they visit us at this time, ask us "what of secession?" "Has South Carolina gone out?" "Is there any danger?"

To all this we answer, that South Carolina, so far as her own action is concerned, has withdrawn from the Union, but it will be necessary for every state to give their consent before this withdrawal has any legal effect. There are two parties to this Union, and the abrogation of the contract which binds it together must be approved by both of them—the seceding state on the one part, and all the remaining states on the other part.

South Carolina has withdrawn her delegation from congress; her federal judges and marshals have resigned; her federal post offices will next be discontinued; and the collectors of customs will speedily resign. As one of the members of her convention said, she is to day, "homeless and houseless." They are in session endeavoring to re-construct the edifice they have torn down, so that their heads may be protected from the pitiless storm which is approaching. This will be no easy job, since they have to provide for internal and external defence, enact revenue and post office laws, and provide means to carry on a separate government.

The first great difficulty will be a tariff upon imports, and clearances for their outgoing vessels. The national government is bound to maintain its revenue laws, and if this is not done under Buchanan's administration, it certainly will be under that of Lincoln. If the collectors of the South Carolina ports resign, vessels of war will be placed in her harbors, and no vessel will be permitted to enter which has not paid duties upon all its goods. The clearances of state officers will be of no avail to an outgoing cargo. No vessel will be likely to depart for a foreign port, without the proper papers signed by United States officials. She would not be recognized in any foreign port, and on the ocean she would be treated as a vagrant, or a pirate. The cargo and vessel would be liable to confiscation, and no complaint could be made, except to the seceding state, which would be powerless to redress any grievance. No insurance could be effected upon such a cargo. One or two cases of this kind would open the eyes of commercial men to the dangers of such a state of things, and the external commerce of South Carolina would immediately cease. Without the sale of cotton, the trade of the interior would stagnate and die, and ruin and starvation would stare merchant and planter in the face.

There is not likely to be any differences with the general government, in relation to post offices and mail routes. If South Carolina post masters resign, and no one can be found in the state to take their places, the post offices and the mail routes will be discontinued. This will be no sort of damage to the rest of the country, as the mails of that state cost more than is realized from them. Three or four hundred thousand dollars will be no small item for the secessionists to raise to support their postal services. When they have tried that while they find it one of the most serious difficulties of secession.

The forts in Charleston harbor are a trouble to the traitors. What shall be done with them? The moment that state takes possession of them, or attempts it, the country will demand of the national government their immediate recovery. Even the stolid and treacherous Buchanan would be unable to resist the popular indignation, which would howl around his ears. He would be in personal jeopardy, and congress would hasten to impeach him, and thus deprive him of his office. It would not be long before fleets and armies would be in Charleston, enforcing the laws of the Union at the cannon's mouth. The reduction of the forts, and the blockade of all her ports would follow, and thus South Carolina would be hemmed in with foes and troubles without, while her internal affairs would be not less desperate. The dangers of rebellion among the slaves would inspire terror and produce horrors which the French revolution could only parallel.

To add to all their troubles, South Carolina is dependent upon others for food. In a state of rebellion she would have no credit, and to buy corn, flour and provisions, she would have to export her gold, and thus commercial ruin would follow in the train of her other disasters.

What is said of South Carolina will apply to any number of States that take the same course. The power of the country is in the northern, eastern and middle states, and though they will regret to be compelled to use force, there is a point where there will be no other alternative.

The time has come when it must be settled, whether there is any vigor in our national government or not. The crisis may as well be met now as at another time. We have confidence that with a firm and prudent course on the part of the north, there will be no permanent dissolution of the Union. The difficulties which naturally swarm around the seceding states, will of themselves, if allowed their free course, conquer a peace.

FIRMNESS vs. IMBECILITY.—Mr. Buchanan's reply to Mr. Cobb's resignation is in marked contrast with Jackson's language to South Carolina member in 1822, who called to take leave. On retiring he asked Jackson if he had any commands in that quarter. "Yes, I have," replied the General, "give my compliments to my friends in your state, and say to them that if a single drop of blood be shed there in opposition to the laws of the United States, I will hang the first man I can lay my hands on engaged in such treasonable conduct, upon the first tree I can reach."

The Pacific Railroad Bill.

The Pacific railroad measure that passed the House of representatives last Thursday, is that of Mr. Curtis, of Iowa, and was offered as an amendment to the Nebraska land bill. It provides for a road starting from the western border of Missouri and the southern border of Iowa, to meet within two hundred miles west of the Missouri river, and then to unite in a single track by the best and shortest route near Salt Lake to San Francisco, or the navigable waters of the Sacramento. The other road is to start from Fort Smith and a point on the western border of Louisiana, with two converging lines bearing westward, and uniting by a single trunk line, by the nearest and best route to the Pacific ocean at or near San Francisco, crossing the Rocky mountains south of the 24th parallel of north latitude.

The bill grants a single row of alternate sections, and a roadway four hundred feet wide to the northern road. On the other hand, the southern road is to receive ten alternate sections through New Mexico and six in California. The southern members insisted on this land grant. But their road and branches receives only thirty-six millions of government bonds, while the northern road will get sixty millions, which will average about $30,000 per mile of federal credit. The principal and interest is to be repaid in transportation of mails, troops, stores, munitions, government agents, telegraphic despatches and the like. One hundred miles must be completed each year, and the whole road is to be completed from the Missouri river to San Francisco within fifteen years.

Among the corporators are the following: In Illinois, Charles G. Hammond, N. B. Judd, John Moore and John Wentworth. In Missouri, John How, James H. Lucas, William Gilpin and N. P. Hall. In Iowa, Charles Mason, L. H. Longworth, H. T. Reid and Hoyt Sherman. In Ohio, Wm. Case, S. S. L'Hommedieu and H. B. Curtis. In Indiana, Thomas A. Morris, Jesse L. Williams and David C. Brannan. In Michigan, E. O. Grosvenor and W. J. Wells.

The California and Oregon members are in ecstasies over its passage through the house. It will be bitterly opposed by the disunionists in the senate, but its friends have hopes of its passage. Even should this be the case, it may meet the veto of the president, who is afraid of the secessionists.

BAYARD TAYLOR HISSED FOR DEFENDING THE FREEDOM OF SPEECH.—Bayard Taylor, in a lecture delivered at Brooklyn, N. Y., on Tuesday night, alluding to the exclusion of George W. Curtis from a lecture hall in Philadelphia, said that civilized countries often muzzle their men of intellect. On this a portion of Mr. Taylor's audience hissed him, but were finally silenced by the applause of the other part.

In resuming Mr. Taylor said that he had thought he was too old a traveller to experience a new sensation, but he had experienced one now. He had never before been hissed while delivering a lecture; but to be hissed for advocating freedom of speech was not so bad after all. [Great cheering.]

The Effects of Secession.

The rebels of South Carolina expected that every thing would "go to eternal smash," when they seceded; but their anticipations are far from being realized.

The first effect of the passage of their ordinance is the firmness with which public opinion is setting against them in the north. A week ago there was thought to be danger of weakness on the part of republican leaders. That is over now. The republicans are united against compromises of all kinds. The popular heart beats strongly for the Union; and against yielding to the insolent demands of South Carolina.

Not only at home is public opinion forming against the secessionists, but in every civilized country of the world. In England, France, Italy and Germany the universal verdict is that these revolutionists have no grievances, and will receive no sympathy.

As a natural result of the growing feeling against the southern disunionists, and the certainty of their utter overthrow, the prices of public stocks and the products of the country have risen since South Carolina's secession, and the tone of commercial reports is every where encouraging. Below we append quotations of the prices of stocks before and after secession.

	Dec. 15.	Dec. 22.
Missouri bonds.....	64	70 1/2
Tennessee ".....	70	75
Virginia ".....	74	79
Genesee B. R.....	61	64 1/2
N. Y. Central.....	11 1/2	12 1/2
Chicago & Burlington.....	63	68

Our readers can also compare the prices of wheat and pork which they now receive with those previous to secession. Both have risen very much. This has given confidence to business men, and has sensibly relieved the money markets of the country. The improved condition of commercial affairs is vastly aided by the enormous influx of gold into the country. Last week $6,760,218 was received at New York, and there are other vessels on the way bringing more of the same sort. Much of this is sent by the capitalists of Europe for the purchase of our stocks, at their present low figures, and this indicates that they have faith in the stability of our institutions, and the onward progress of the country, notwithstanding the bluster and bravado of the south.

With these things happening upon the heels of "secession," the South Carolina hot-heads will be in a rage. They will be awfully disappointed that nobody is scared, and that the world only laughs at their insane antics.

Mrs. Douglas's Watch.—We learn from the Memphis Appeal that Mrs. Douglas's watch, which was stolen from her while descending the Mississippi in company with her husband just before the election, has been recovered. It was found, along with other jewelry to the value of $2,500, in the possession of a colored barber in Memphis, last week. He says that he bought it from a white man.

In Reply to "Another Layman."

He is not the first man who "supposed" he "knew something" and found out to the contrary. The work he quotes from is not history, in the sense he uses the word. It purports to be a collection of materials out of which to construct history. If he had taken the time to examine authority, he would have learned that the letter he cites was written from a British camp in New York, and that the city remained a British camp until after the close of the war; that the writer of the letter, so far from being "then rector of Trinity church," had no pastoral charge; that a greater part of the buildings in the city had been destroyed by fire, including Trinity church, school and parsonage; that the citizens had nearly all deserted the town, etc., etc.

Now, I submit, is the evidence produced competent to prove that any of the "Episcopal clergy of the colonies" opposed the revolution of 1776. It may have been that the London society's missionaries in the colonies were opposed to the war, but that any of the settled Episcopal clergy took that course is contrary to the impartial verdict of history. In Connecticut, where the church at that time had a stronger foot-hold than in any other of the colonies, both the clergy and their congregations were on the side of the revolution.

In Pennsylvania, also, we find the church furnishing a chaplain for congress, and another of her clergymen, Rev. Peter Muhlenberg, "threw off the gown and took up the sword," and served in the revolutionary army as colonel of a regiment. This, perhaps, is sufficient; but if it is still claimed that the letter quoted is competent evidence to make up a true bill in this matter, against the Episcopal clergy of the colonies, then by similar evidence it can be shown that the clergy of other sects in the colonies were also in opposition to the revolutionary war. I am in the defensive only, and will stop here.

LAYMAN.
For the Gazette and Free Press.
School Matters in the Town of Janesville.

Messrs. Editors:—I have waited long expecting to see an article from some able pen than mine, on the subject of our common schools—but none appearing is my excuse for writing this article.

There are seven school houses in our town, four of which are brick and three of wood. They are all—except the one in district No. 4—situated in a neat, well-fenced yard, and I hope ere another year has passed that the people of that district will fence and clean up their school yard.

The schools have all got under way, and are doing as well as can be expected. The teachers and others have organized a society for the purpose of holding a meeting in each school district in the town, to discuss matters which interest all friends of education. Good speakers are engaged to address the people of the several districts when they can get out to listen.

The first of the course of lectures was given at the school house near the Rock River House, on Saturday evening the 22d inst., and those who were there were much pleased with the remarks of Rev. W. C. Whitford, the principal of Milton academy. He is a live, thorough and active teacher. He spoke of the lukewarmness of parents on the subject of education, and showed the sin in all its deformities. He gave some hints to teachers, and urged them to more active and thorough work in their schools.

The young he advised to strive to prepare themselves for the great battle of life which they are about to enter upon.

There is a strife between several of the schools to see which shall excel in the amount of labor done by each, and the manner in which it is performed.

I hear of instances where parents have been so much interested in the schools in their district that they have even visited them. I do wish that parents would visit their schools more than they do. I think they are very much in fault for not taking more interest in their schools. Were they to hire a man to cut wood at twenty-five cents per day, they would not let him work half a day without seeing how he worked; but they will send their children to school for months without even looking towards the school house. I hope parents will not suffer these things to be so long. Were they to wake up about such matters, their children would get a good business education, while now they learn just about nothing. Poor teachers would be driven from the fields, and all would be blest.

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN.—The Madison Patriot of yesterday morning says—"James Morrison, Esq., an old settler in this locality and well known throughout the state, breathed his last yesterday morning. His death has been sudden, hastened no doubt by wounds inflicted upon himself, while in a state of supposed partial insanity, some days since. He undoubtedly intended self-destruction, but did not in the attempt inflict injuries that had that immediate effect, though they were in the end the cause of his death. He had been much exercised of late in regard to some pending suits to a considerable sum, growing out of the old business firm of Morrison, Doty and Bird, and the inciting cause of his attempt at self-destruction is attributable, no doubt, to circumstances connected with these proceedings. He leaves an aged and much respected widow."

Mr. Iverson, who is chairman of the senate committee on claims, said, at one of its recent meetings, in a very taunting manner, that "half a million of Wide Awakes cannot inaugurate Mr. Lincoln." A republican senator replied with, "then we will send a million." Notwithstanding Mr. Iverson and other ardent disunionists, Mr. Lincoln will be inaugurated President of the United States as sure as the 4th of March rolls around, and Mr. Iverson will live under his administration if he lives in the United States.

Anything Midas touched was turned into gold. In these days touch a man with gold and he'll turn into anything.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

FAST DAY IN MASSACHUSETTS.—Gov. Banks has issued a proclamation for a day of fasting and prayer for the Union, to be observed on the 4th of January, in conformity with the proclamation of the president.

James Waddell, a book-keeper at Louisville, jumped from a third story window Tuesday night, and died in a few hours, from his injuries. He was delicious from drinking.

Four negro children were burned to death at Marietta, Penn., on Sunday night; their charred remains were found in the smoldering ruins.

The name of Thackeray's new novel is "The Adventures of Philip, or His Way Through the World; Showing Who Robbed Him, Who Helped Him, and Who Passed Him By."

Living was cheap enough in the olden time. Socrates is supposed to have lived upon an income of seventy-five dollars.—Demosthenes, his sister and their mother paid for their board $105 a year, and provided the house into the bargain.

Why Fort Moultrie is Not Reinforced.—A special despatch to the Evening Post says: "Buchanan dare not send reinforcements to Fort Moultrie, because Floyd will refuse to sign the order. That will involve the necessity of removing him, and Wigfall has told the president that any attempt to reinforce that point will produce a civil war."

A shock of an earthquake was felt at Auburn, Norway, Portland and other places in Maine, on Sunday of last week. It was the severest that has occurred in that vicinity since 1813.

Prof. J. H. Ingraham, the novelist, accidentally shot himself at Holley Springs, Miss., on Saturday week. He is now lying in a very precarious condition.

Mr. J. Roebing, builder of the Niagara Falls suspension bridge, is now engaged upon a work almost equally great, on the Danville and Lexington railroad, Kentucky. That road is building a bridge on the suspension principle, which will be 1,324 feet long, which will connect the sides of a gorge 300 feet deep.

The Troy (N. Y.) Whig says that Gen. Wool advised Gen. Cass, some weeks ago, that the first duty of the government was the arming of Fort Moultrie. Gen. Wool is a gallant soldier and a staunch friend of the Union.

Hon. Horace Mower, a well known and respected citizen of Kalamazoo, Michigan, died at that place on the 11th inst. He had been a resident of Michigan for the last twenty-five years.

Alexander Munn, formerly editor of the Rochester (New York) American, until it united with the Democrat, and afterwards connected with the editorial department of the New York Times, died at Augustine, Florida, on the 6th inst. He was held in high estimation by all who knew him.

Our countryman, Henry Stevens, has bought Humboldt's library in Berlin just as he left it. The catalogue consists of 12,000 titles, about 6,000 bound volumes, and the rest small books and pamphlets. Many of the books are very bulky and costly.

The defection of Wm. M. Colburne, treasurer of Schenectady county, N. Y., and editor of the News (Brookridge organ), is ascertained to be $5,133, and it is not known whether he has fled. The paper has changed hands.

PROLIFIC.—A canvasser in Richland co., Ohio, has found a family with seventeen children.

In England, that family would justly be entitled to the badge of royalty.

THE LAST JOKE.—Here is the last joke from Pretence: "We don't know that a whiskey barrel would feel ashamed in a democratic assemblage, but we do know that it would be badly bored."

Jones and Brown met at the post office. Jones complains of bad smell about the office, and asks Brown what it can be? Brown doesn't know, unless it may be the large number of dead letters.

The Barraboo Republic denies the story of the Stevens Point Pinery that Senator Kingston will urge the repeal of the so-called personal liberty bill of this state.

Hiram N. Breed, mayor elect of Lynn, Mass., is a working shoemaker, and quietly occupied his bench on the day his fellow workmen were rolling up his majority at the polls.

REMARKABLE.—The Boscebel Express informs us that there is a man named John Tyler who lives near Boscebel, Grant Co., who has been in rather poor health for some twelve months past, and has not partaken of a particle of nourishment during the last fifteen days, save water, and yet retains remarkable strength of voice and a good flow of spirits.

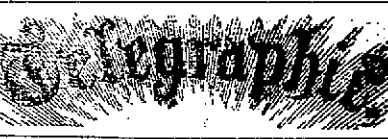

ASSAULT.—A man named Pierce was brutally stabbed in a row at Madison a few days ago, and is not expected to recover. Cullen, the offender, was bound over to answer before the circuit court.

It is estimated by the Chicago Journal that 533 persons lost their lives on the lakes, during the year 1859; and that the loss of property amounted to $635,000.

AN ABOLITIONIST IN MEMPHIS.—For want of genuine northern abolitionists to wreak their vengeance upon the southern vigilance committee and lynch law men, are fond of overheating the "poor white trash" of their own localities, as will be seen by the following item from the Memphis Appeal:

There is considerable look out kept just now for specimens of that northern production, the abolitionist. The article is either scarce in this southern region, or it has taken refuge in undiscoverable thickness, for it is hard to find. Yesterday we had this genuine homo naturae among us; he was an imported specimen, however. He came by Adams' express from Panola, Miss., stamped in large letters on the back of his coat, were the letters, "negro tamperer!" One side of his head and one side of his whiskers was shaved off. It appears that he was a person of somewhat imbecile mind but of mischievous propensities. He loved to converse with negroes, and would take their money to buy liquor, which he shared with them. Sixteen dollars was put into the hands of the express messenger to use at Memphis for the purpose of sending him as far north as the money would carry him. He was shipped on the Platte Valley, and, we presume, he will be turned down alive in Chicago.

The Palmetto flag is everywhere. Scarcely a vessel comes or goes out of the harbor that does not carry it. Hardly one carries an American flag. This is the nearest bravado in the world, for let one of the Palmetto flags come in sight of a national cruiser,

A few parcels of sovereigns were withdrawn for America. The exchange quotations from the continent show firmness. The prospects of the new Turkish loan attracts great attention.

The allied army commenced their advance on the same day that Pekin was taken. The summer palace of the emperor was taken and completely sacked. The chief share of the plunder seems to have fallen to the French. The entire British share, including treasury and private property, is estimated at $90,000. The Tartar army is still in the field, though the emperor has fled.

The Canard steamship Canada, from Liverpool Saturday December 15th via Queens-town on the 15th, has arrived at this port. She had $190,000 in specie. The Canard reports that she passed on the evening of the 16th the steamship Africa from New York for Liverpool, and at 10 o'clock, p. m., on the 14th, she passed the Arabia from Boston for Liverpool. General news presents interesting and official China despatches, which confirm the previous accounts of the capture of Pekin. The ship Georgiana, from New Orleans for Liverpool, was burned at sea, November 20th. The crew was saved. A despatch from St. Petersburg, states that peace had been consummated with the Chinese, and the Emperor had returned to his palace. An effort had been made to assassinate Col. The war dept. can take no action in reference to the recent movements at Pittsburgh until official information shall be received from the officer in charge of the Allegheny arsenal. The order for removal of guns was recently issued and directed them to be at Philadelphia and Galveston by the time the defensive works at those points though unfinished may be ready to receive them.

The appropriations for the purchase of the cannon was long since made as above stated, and the order for their removal thither was in accordance with the law and regulation, without any reference to political considerations.

ALBANY, Dec. 24.
Thurlow Weed, in an article in to-day's Journal, alludes to his recent visit to Springfield in the following terms:

"Since the newspapers have made our recent visit to Springfield the occasion of remark, it may not be improper to say that an interview with Mr. Lincoln has confirmed and strengthened our confidence in his fitness for the high position he is to occupy. Of his eminent qualifications for the great trust reposed in him; of his enlightened appreciation of the difficulties and dangers that surround us; of his desire that the free states, if in anything delinquent, should fulfill their constitutional duties; of his determination to require from all the states an enforcement of the laws, and obedience to the constitution; and, finally, of his earnest and inflexible adherence to the principles and sympathies of republicanism."

The "Stars and Stripes" at Fort Moultrie.
CHARLESTON, Dec. 16, 1860.
This morning I took my accustomed walk down to the battery to make sure that the flag at Fort Moultrie. The stars and stripes conveyed the assurance. Nowhere else is our national flag to be seen, and amid the scenes and the constant talk of treason, one feels a joyful interest in beholding it, as I now do, streaming against the sky, "with not one star dimmed, not one stripe erased," guarded, as I know it is, and will be to the last, by as gallant a band of men as ever breathed. For some reason or other, I have imbibed an interest for that little garrison at Fort Moultrie—an interest that I persuade myself will be shared by the whole country, as their situation and treatment becomes known.

I wish the country might know really how much they have done to strengthen the position, how fully determined they have been, are, and will be to defend the country, as though they realized that with them, as they are, is linked the fate of the republic. Thus far, Moultrie's garrison has played no unimportant part in the nullification revolution, and is determined to play a part still more conspicuous. Therefore, I go down to the battery—for Charleston, has that which she calls by that ambitious title—every morning.

By the way, the dawn's early light, What to precisely we bailed at the twilight's last gleaming.

The Palmetto flag is everywhere. Scarcely a vessel comes or goes out of the harbor that does not carry it. Hardly one carries an American flag. This is the nearest bravado in the world, for let one of the Palmetto flags come in sight of a national cruiser, of any kind, and, if she does not show the stripes, she will be taken as a piratical craft. The Palmetto flag can have nothing at the moment when a flag can have any significance. I conclude that it will be a good while before these Charleston vessels can dispense with the stars and stripes.

It is stated that the late William L. Marcy's diary contains a prophetic prediction of Mr. Buchanan's failure to administer the government, successfully, from his want of directness, fidelity and courage.

Among Mr. Polk's papers there is even a stronger testimony against him, derived from association in his cabinet. General Jackson's last injunction to Mr. Polk, when starting for Washington, was not to take Mr. Buchanan into his cabinet; but he was surrounded by politicians and over-ruled after reaching there, much to his regret afterward.

A foreign letter writer declares St. Petersburg the most corrupted city on the European continent, and that licentiousness is practiced to a most alarming extent.

"A Merry Christmas."

Yesterday was a "merry" day indeed in our city. A fall of snow the evening previous made good sleighing, and the streets were alive with old and young in the full enjoyment of an unlooked for luxury. A national fair would not have exhibited so great a variety of runners, boxes and equipments, albeit the style was not in all cases such as would grace Broadway or enliven the fashionable thoroughfares of the capitals of the "Old Bay" and "Empire" states. One "establishment," consisting of four horses and a sleigh of decidedly more strength than beauty, displayed the American flag, and exhibited more patriotism than the flaunting demagogues of South Carolina.

The juveniles contributed their full share to the general "good time." Their style of "turnouts" equaled in variety those of the older "boys," and with spirits elated by the welcome visit of Santa Claus, their celebration had all the zest of unalloyed pleasure. Red top boots, pants tucked inside to display the varied color, worked their way amid the crowds collected on the sidewalks or exhibited the activity of the wearer in dodging a 3500 nag in the street; a new shawl hung from the shoulders of some "fast" Young America; pockets were loaded with the contents of stockings the good old saint had filled, and a shrill "merry Christmas" asked a remembrance from a cookie case or a candy jar.

Yes, a merry day was yesterday, notwithstanding the price of exchange, the discount on "Illinois," or the condition of the wheat market. Nobody asked "the news?" no one thought of the telegraph; South Carolina was forgotten, and the "old pub. func." received less curses than he had in any day for a week previous, or will for a week to come. Good bye happy day; you have gone into the calendar of the past, but may your successor prove himself like you—only a good deal more so!

A CHRISTMAS PARTY.—A family party assembled yesterday for a Christmas dinner at the residence of J. J. R. Pease in this city, which was so remarkable in the communities of the west as to be worthy of a notice. The entire party consisted of 31 persons: Mr. Pease, wife and four children; the venerable mother of Mr. Pease; the Rev. T. J. Ruger, wife and five unmarried children; Miss Ruger, a sister of Rev. Mr. Ruger; Hamilton Richardson, wife and child; Capt. John C. Robinson, wife and two children; Howard Ruger, wife and child; Mrs. Q. N. Adams, of La Salle, Illinois, a niece of Mrs. T. J. Ruger. In addition to this family circle, all of whom were connected by ties of blood or marriage, the family of L. E. Stone, consisting of himself, wife and three children, were present as invited guests and valued friends. Six distinct families, represented by Mrs. Pease and Rev. Mr. Ruger, or descended from them as children, were present in this family gathering. Eight of the company were grand children, all of whom except the infant of Howard Ruger, and all his own children, had been baptised by the patriarch and clergyman present at the table of his son-in-law.

We doubt whether a family party, as large in numbers, and as well known in everything that constitutes good citizenship as this, congregated elsewhere in Wisconsin. Few parents indeed have been honored with children such as met yesterday for the blessing of Mrs. L. T. Pease and the Rev. T. J. Ruger and his estimable wife.

FESTIVAL AT LAPPIN'S HALL.—The festival of the ladies of Christ Church, at Lappin's Hall, on Christmas eve, was a very pleasant, social gathering. The supper was served in excellent style, and was quite creditable to the ladies who had it in charge. There were a goodly number present, and all seemed to enjoy themselves. These friendly meetings at the annual recurrence of Christmas festivals promote sociability and good feeling among those who participate in them. May the ladies of Christ Church hold many such festivals.

LADIES' FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the Congregational society have determined to hold a festival in Lappin's Hall, next Tuesday evening, New Year's night. A committee for the sale of tickets has been appointed, who will wait upon our citizens to purchase them. A more extended notice will be given to-morrow.

P. S. On reading proof we discover a little uncertainty about the duty of the committee. The tickets and not the committee are for sale.

JUST LIKE HIM.—"The printer" had yesterday a testimonial of the liberality of Tom Wooliscroft. For the last ten years Thomas has not failed to place upon the table of the publishers of the Gazette a substantial evidence of thanksgiving or Christmas good will,

For the Daily Gazette, Evelyn.

Poetically she sleeps,
Though wintry winds sweep o'er her hair;
Cold and wild the storm,
But break they not her slumber.

Mourn not, weep not, Mother,
For thy sleeping one,
Jesse watcheth o'er her,
He will wake her soon.

Brightly bloomed the flower,
Which tenderly she nursed and trained;
Fairer grew each hour,
And sweeter fragrance lending.

Mourn not, weep not, Father,
For thy lovely one,
Jesse will restore her,
And bring thy darling home.

Scarcely the blossom open'd
Its beauty to our gaze;
When closed its leaves again
As if the cold world fearing.

Mourn not, weep not, Sister,
That thou art called to part
With the pure, fair flower,
So dear to thy heart.

Slightly she sleeps,
Nor voice, nor sound, disturb her;
Peaceful be her rest,
Till He, our Saviour, calls her.

Mourn not, weep not, Brother,
Jesse will restore her,
When He shall appear. LAURA.

CHRISTMAS TREE.—A Christmas tree was the principal attraction at Christ Church, on Christmas eve. An evergreen tree had been procured from Fond du Lac, about two feet in height, which was placed in the church room, and upon which were hung presents for some seventy Sabbath school scholars, teachers, the pastor and his lady, &c. The tree was illuminated by wax tapers, and presented a beautiful appearance, especially to the expectant throng of children. The distribution of these presents was a pleasant scene, which well repaid those who were instrumental in procuring them.

A CHRISTMAS INCIDENT.—The two young men who so pleasantly and attentively discharged the duties of clerks in the bookstore of Messrs. Newell & Dearborn, Henry Van Kirk and Ira Dutton, were the recipients of a substantial token of the esteem and respect of their employers, on Christmas day, in the shape of a present of one of Spaulding's silver hunting watches, for each.—This was a good thing, creditable to all parties, and is an example which might well be followed by all employers of young men in responsible business positions.

FAST DRIVING ON THE BRIDGES.—We are authorized by the mayor, to say that the ordinance against fast driving over the bridges will be rigidly enforced.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.—In the suit of T. F. Graig, ex. C. & N. W. R. Co., for damages resulting from the accident to the Ford du Lac excursion, which has been on trial in Chicago, the jury on Saturday afternoon having been out twenty hours, announced that they were unable to agree and were discharged. It is rumored that they "came within one" of a verdict, but "eleven contrary men" stood out.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL connected with the Baptist church will hold a festival this evening. Parents and members of the congregation are invited to attend. Services commence at half-past 6 o'clock.

O. J. DEARBORN,
Superintendent.

BOARDING WANTED.—A young man and his wife desire a boarding place in a private family residing within five minutes' walk of the post office. It is immaterial whether or not the room is furnished—can furnish it themselves. Meals will be required punctually. Apply immediately at this office.

SINGING CLASS.—Mr. Wilson's rudimental singing class will meet on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, instead of Monday of this week. dec24dwt

A Christmas and New Year's Gift.

Reported for the Janesville Gazette, and
BUMP & GRAY,
GRAIN AND PRODUCE DEALERS.

JANESVILLE, December 26, 1860.

The wheat market opened this morning at 70c for milling spring, and 75c for shipping, and a considerable amount of hands at those figures until about noon, when telegraph news was received from Chicago quoting a decline of 6c per bushel there, then buyers withdrew and prices soon declined to 70c for milling spring, and 64c for shipping, closing dull at the decline. Receipts 5000 bushels. Receipts of dressed hogs were large and prices, under unfavorable reports from the lake shore markets, were a little easier; sales of 150 head at $20.50 for heavy, and 4500 for light. Most of the hogs in to day were choice, heavy and well fattened. Receipts of other produce were light and market unchanged.
